

Dear Customer,

Tanury Industries has a long history of providing high quality functional and decorative precious metal coatings. Our clients include many leading companies, from a diverse array of markets. Several traits distinguish us from our competition: attention to detail, high quality standards, family oriented customer service, and use of advanced technology.

When Thomas A. Tanury, Chairman, came into the business, his vision was clear: to combine the best technology with our core business values. Our goal is to provide a “One Stop” solution for all of your finishing requirements. Our insistence on applying our experience, technology, and stringent quality programs to new markets has thrust Tanury Industries into the international marketplace. Our ability to provide new and exciting functional and decorative finishes both in electroplating and PVD (physical vapor deposition) continues to be a catalyst for growth while providing clear market advantages to our clients.

Our management team has a combined 130+ years of experience, providing a seasoned approach to controlling our business, while nurturing long lasting relationships with our diverse customer base. Domestic and international trade groups, client referrals, esteemed universities, and government agencies often contact us to consult on their most technical challenges. Technology investment has been our priority over the decades, and our emphasis on R&D and process development are continuing objectives. Unique color development in PVD, such as Champagne, Rose, Azur Blue, and Sea Green are among some examples offered by Tanury. We encourage you to view the full list of Tanury’s unique color boards at our website.

Sounds like we are a busy company, and we are... but amidst all of this activity is one simple philosophy: Never forget where we came from, and service every customer beyond their expectations.

Welcome to the Tanury Industries family. We appreciate your business.

Sincerely,
